Jerry Balistreri

Jerry Balistreri is a professional educator, administrator, trainer and author. His training on how to read body language leaves participants wanting more and creates a memorable experience. Jerry gets the participants involved with fun learning experiences that leave them with concrete knowledge of how to read body language and what the "tells" mean. Some of Jerry's past experiences are:

- * Professional educator, administrator, trainer, speaker, and author
- * B.S., M.S., M.Ed., DTE
- * Twenty-five years of experience in public education
- * Ten years of experience in training
- * University department chair
- * HS Principal
- * State Supervisor with two state education departments
- * ASTD certified trainer
- * Over thirty years of experience with non-verbal communication

Jerry has been training, researching, writing, and speaking on non-verbal communication for over thirty years. Jerry delivers customized trainings, keynote addresses, and conference sessions.

Roseann M. Bennett, COL, JA

COL Rose Bennett has served over 20 years as a Judge Advocate in the U.S. Army. During this time, she served in numerous positions including prosecutor (Fort Richardson, Alaska), defense counsel (Fort Carson, Colorado), administrative law attorney (Fort Hood, Texas), Brigade Judge Advocate (Fort Drum, New York), Deputy Staff Judge Advocate (Fort Leavenworth, Kansas) and Regional Defense Counsel (Atlantic Region, Fort Meade, Maryland). Currently, she serves as the Staff Judge Advocate for U.S. Army Alaska and manages the U.S. Army legal offices at Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson, Fort Wainwright and Fort Greely.
